By A.H.S.
(The amateur birder strikes again.)

Available on a short-term basis: cozy home in a nice neighborhood, solid wood construction throughout. Can be furnished to suit tenant. Exceptional views; many amenities.

A "nice neighborhood" from a bird's-eye point of view isn't that of over-achieving property owners whose grounds are apt to have all the charm of parking lots. Birds and other wildlife prefer the interesting flora featured in the yards of those of us who simply don't get around to things.

Brush piles that are "temporarily" left behind the evergreens are rewarding places to find insects and cover; rampant bittersweet vines entangled with thorny undergrowth (which we'll get to "next year") not only provide good winter snacking but the perfect spot for surveillance before flying in to the feeders.

Once you have been messy enough to attract your wildlife, they enthusiastically join in, contributing ever-burgeoning species of vines and berrying bushes to a scene now out of control. A 30-foot privet, planted by the birds many years ago near the back door, now has sufficient superstructure to support all the feeders as well as its own abundant crop of dark blue berries — relished by all kinds of finches and wintering bands of robins.

Some people object to the smell of the tiny white blossoms, but the bees think it's divine. It's hard to imagine that this umbrella-like specimen with its gracefully cascading branches is the same bush which, hard-pruned, forms other people's hedges.

The privet thus has acquired the constantly reinforced stranglehold on perpetuity enjoyed so lustily by the red-berried tartarian honeysuckle, blackberries, the wild white-flowering rose (which even we attack, in spite of its glorious scent) and the sweet autumn clematis, which reacts to a spring cut-down by producing masses of blossoms just in time for migrating butterflies and then a winter of happy seed-eating by the white-throated sparrows.

So this "nice neighborhood" has natural food, feeders, and a scattering of ground feed. Add a few evergreens including berry-rich junipers for cover and your friends may escape the hawk. Now this is a problem that more scientifically-oriented birders don't have, but to those of us who regard our visiting birds as individuals, a hawk attack is a revolting development! I try to keep in mind the thinking of Pulitzer Prize-winning naturalist Edwin Way Teale in "A Walk Through the Year": these aren't murderous assaults designed to end lives; the hawk is motivated only by the desire to prolong life — his own. If he could eat his prey without killing it, he would. This is, however, not the first thing I say when I see a pile of feathers on the lawn.

Another amenity, as advertised, is water. Our birdbaths are all on the ground, a safe enough location if the birds have a clear line of vision in all directions or if one side backs up to an impenetrable thorny barrier. A scattering of baths is a good idea because of territorial lines and because on hot days at least one will be filled with a snoozing pigeon. Ours include a Four-and-Twenty Blackbirds size and — because we never get around to baking, either — an enameled Corning pie plate which is unaffected by weather. On the Day of Reckoning, something extraordinary is awaiting those who have garden-gracing ornamental birdbaths — and no water.

By now you are thinking we live in a jungle and that we would have been the first to embrace the meadow concept. No, an unbroken expanse of lawn is, personally, both visually and mentally restful, so I've come up with a battery of excuses for being a lawn mower freak. Robins and flickers much prefer short turf, and many are the close calls I've had with catbirds racing alongside the mower to grab in midflight the moths and other small insects fleeing in my path. If the mower is set high enough, as ours is because we haven't repaired the one wheel that won't budge, the small ground-flowering weeds are left intact for finches, woodchucks and rabbits. Mowing keeps the jungle at bay, leaving a yard-encircling necklace whose jewels vary from season to season, from year to year, always with new gifts: the brilliant red of barberries and hollies, the surprising debut of mock orange, a capricious carpet of lilies-of-the-valley.

So much for the amenities! The prime real estate is a magnificent hole in an old oak close by the house. Never mind that the tree top left town in the clutches of Hurricane Bob, leaving twisted wreckage that looks like a punk haircut. How deep is the hole? Only the tenants know for sure, but spring turn-outs add up to quite an accumulation of debris, particularly eye-catching as it sails past our windows. Three young squirrels plus their mother, or three flicker offspring plus a parent, can all pop down totally out of sight. No wonder the little nuthatches change their minds about moving in — their kids would never see the light of day. Mother squirrels really have a handle on housekeeping. We've seen them carrying their babies from the woods to this new home — when the children have messed up the first nursery, just move! Which is something we don't plan to do — it's too interesting right here. (Besides, we'd probably never get around to it.)

Mattapoisett Selectmen's Meeting

January 19, 1993

By Bethany Morgan

A regular meeting of the Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen was called to order on Tuesday, January 19 at 7:00 pm by Chairman John N. DeCosta. Also present were Selectman Paul E. Lambalot, Selectman Daniel O. Mahoney and Executive Secretary Carol Adams.

After the signing of the payroll, the minutes of the January 12 meeting were approved. Reviewed were the incoming correspondence submitted by Evelyn Pursley, Chairwoman of the Council on Aging (COA), reminding the board of a meeting scheduled for January 27 to 7:30 pm in the Town Hall Conference Room. The board approved correspondence submitted by Mrs. Robert M. Walter requesting the use of the town's beach parking lot for vehicles of those attending her daughter's wedding on Saturday, June 19, beginning at 3:30 pm.

Also read was a letter of application for consideration as a member of the Board of Appeals submitted by Janice E. Robbins. The signing of the outgoing mail included correspondence to the town's Sealer of Weights and Measures with regard to a fee increase and a letter to Ronald Sylvia submitting estimates for repair work to Harvey Orchard Lane.

Appointments with the Board included Fire Chief Wood, members of the Mattapoisett School Committee and the Mattapoisett Public Schools Building Needs Committee, and the town Finance Committee.

Chief Wood submitted three points for approval. The first regarded repairs to the pumper in Engine No. 4. The Board approved the bid of $1,465 made by Fire Resources Inc., of Assonet, with Selectman Lambalot stating, "This is a bare bones repair project."

This bid does not include possible repairs of the impeller (instruments that pushes out the water). Testing of the impeller will follow the repairs to the pumper. Proposed was a five year plan for purchasing a new fire engine to replace the aging No. 4. The second point regarded the installation of a new generator. The Board approved the bid of $620 made by F.D. Jones Electrical Co., Inc. Point three was a letter submitted by Chief Wood informing the board of his plans to retire upon the expiration of his appointment on April 30, 1993.

and other members of the committee discussed with the board a list of repairs to Old Hammondtown and Center Schools for consideration on the upcoming Annual Town Meeting warrant.

The list included:

• Replacing lamps with energy efficient bulbs at an estimated $5,000 per school, a cost that will pay for itself within two years.

• Door replacements at Old Hammondtown at $9,000, for the insurance of safety.

• Repair and re-tile floors in the art and music classrooms of Center School at $19,950, which were damaged during August's heavy rains.

• Repairs to the blacktop at Center School at $22,234.

• Installation of Lexan plastic window replacing the frequently vandalized glass windows, at $4,000.

• Painting Center School's cafeteria at $8,000.

The repairs to both schools would total approximately $73,184.

Peter Briggs, School Building Needs Committee Chairman, submitted the Facilities Assessment regarding Center and Old Hammondtown Schools. Of the various options developed by the assessment, a consensus was reached by the School Committee which favors a Kindergarten through Grade 6 enrollment in Old Hammondtown School. The required expansion of Old Hammondtown would total approximately $8.6 million. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts will provide 65 percent of the project's funding. Committee member Mark E. Whalen suggested a phase-approach towards this project, in which construction of the facility would take place gradually. This approach would reduce the financial commitment by the town, while waiting for state funding.

Selectmen approved an additional $4,500 for engineering studies related to the proposed repair and construction of North Street between Route 195 and the Rochester/Mattapoisett town

Marion Selectmen's Meeting

January 19, 1993

By Chandra Dewing

A regular meeting of the Marion Board of Selectmen was called to order on Tuesday, January 19 at 7:05 pm by Chairwoman Loretta B. Schaefer. Also present were Selectman James S. Dougall, Selectman Edwin "Ted" Pratt Jr., Executive Secretary Ray E. Pickles and Secretary Helene Craver.

After signing warrants, license renewals and correspondence and approving the minutes of the January 12 meeting the board considering incoming correspondence for the week.

A report from the long-term facilities study committee was discussed by the Selectmen. This committee consists of representatives from the Board of Selectmen, Police Department, Board of Fire Engineers, Emergency Medical Service (EMS), Marine Resources Commission, Department of Public Works, Finance Committee and School Committee. The purpose of this study was to address building needs within each department and predict the future needs of town facilities.

As an outcome of the study, the committee decided that many facilities will need to be expanded, along with maintenance of the Music Hall, ORR High School and Sippican School. The first and foremost need is to relocate

The Community Antenna Television Commission wrote to inform the board about the Cable Television Consumer Protection and Competition Act that Congress passed on October 5, 1992. They also submitted a copy of the overview of the act for the Board to consider.

At 7:30 pm, Peter Lee, Developer from SK Properties, met with the board to discuss the plans for the proposed, affordable 28-unit elderly housing complex off Atlantis Road. The proposed project should generate tax revenue, meet the needs of the community and cost minimal to the town, which will only pay for utilities. The main issues discussed were a an on-site generator, sprinkler system and the water and sewerage system. Several problems on each of these topics were brought out.

The on-site generator would give energy to lights and heat in the event of a power shortage, but people discussed the need for refrigeration also in the case of an emergency.

The Fire Station recommended a full sprinkler system for the proposed project. But Mr. Lee responded by saying that only a partial system for the corridors and stairs was needed because there were smoke alarms and heat

Lastly, the water and sewerage system would not be adequate for the proposed 28-unit housing complex.

After much discussion, the board moved to review these problems in the plan and meet for further for recommendations.

Under Board of Health business, Regional Sanitarian Karen A. Walega sent a letter pertaining to the review of drainage calculations for the Marion Elderly Housing. She wrote to discuss comments from Bernie Taber about the drainage calculations for the project. Mr. Taber reported that after a review of the site, he found deficiencies in the plan.

The Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) is "Proposing regulations which will revise the Massachusetts Contingency Plan. These proposed regulations would establish rules for site notification, classification of sites into categories, permit procedures, criteria for determining that a site needs 'no further action,' and other procedures, technical standards and requirements."

Explanations about the proposed regulations will be held at meetings in Springfield, Lowell, Boston, New Bedford and Worcester.

There being no further matters to come before the board, they adjourned for the evening.

Rochester Selectmen's Meeting

January 19, 1993

A regular meeting of the Rochester Board of Selectmen was called to order on Monday, January 19 at 7:02 pm by Chairman Harry A. Brown Jr. Also present were Selectman Lorraine Roy Hawkes and Administrative Secretary Shirley A. Ferreira. Selectman David L. Hughes arrived approximately five minutes into the session.

When Chairman Brown asked to approve the minutes of the January 11 Selectmen's meeting and the two budget hearing session held on January 13 and January 14, Selectman Hawkes wanted to correct a comment made by her at the January 11 meeting relative to her concern over the town's Chief of Communications. She also made a correction in the January 13 minutes regarding the board's discussion of hiring a full-time police officer.

Those corrections made, the board approved all three meeting minutes as submitted with a majority vote (Selectman Hughes not being present).

Chairman Brown next went over the incoming correspondence for the week, beginning with a payment from SEMASS for the month of December, 1992 in the amount of $112,337.50.

The board next received a request from town resident Richard E. Kessler of 573 Neck Road to place a temporary float dock and two moorings off his property on Snipatuit Pond. Although Mr. Kessler had previously used the dock and moorings, changes in the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) laws require him to register anything placed in the waters under town jurisdiction. "He's simply following the law," Selectman Hughes explained, and moved to grant the request as submitted, which was unanimously approved by the board.

Chairman Brown next cited a letter from John C. Decas of the Decas Cranberry Company in response to the board's correspondence of December 22, 1992 regarding the Mill Pond overflow on Walnut Plain Road. Acting upon the complaint of resident James Nunes, the board asked Mr. Decas if anything could be done to avoid flooding like that which took place in the aftermath of the December 11-12 rainstorm.

After outlining all the precautionary steps taken to ward off the impending storm, Mr. Decas asserted in his letter that he is willing to "meet with any interested person or persons, or neighborhood group, or any governmental agent or agency for the purpose of looking for improved methods of water management that would eliminate or lessen any problems that may presently exist."

Chairman Brown said that Mr. Decas and Mr. Nunes have both agreed to meet with town officials at the site to determine how a future mishap like this might be avoided. Selectmen agreed to meet with the two gentlemen on February 6 at 9:00 am at the Mill Pond site.

The board next received copies of letters sent from the Conservation Commission, the first of which was sent to Alexander Beichek, Chairman of the Marion Zoning Board of Appeals regarding an application of variance made by Max Schlaegal for a lot he owns which is located in both Marion and Rochester. According to Rochester Conservation Commission Chairwoman Georgia Chamberlain, in order for Mr. Schlaegal to use an adjoining dam as a right of way through the town, he would have to file a Notice of Intent application under the Wetland Protection Act and get approval from the Conservation Commission.

Also from the Conservation Commission were copies of a Certificate of Compliance issued to James G. Grant Company on a recent Order of Conditions rendered and a copy of a Certificate of Compliance issued to Decas Cranberry Company, Inc., granting approval of Mary's Pond for same.

next sent memorandums to the board advising them of changes in municipal laws regarding a defect in a public way and town's liability and exceptions to liability in such an instance (copies of which were sent to Highway Surveyor Jeff Eldridge) and the new Cable Television Consumer Protection and Competition Act of 1992, which takes effect April 5 of this year.

In the matter of municipal liability, Selectman Hughes asked that the town's insurance agent (MIAA) send a representative to meet with municipal employees to outline exactly what the insurance policy covers. "I think we should meet with the fire and police department and discuss what is covered under our policy," he said. "Then we can invite anyone who's interested to come."

Chairman Brown was curious as to how long Rochester's cable contract is in effect, to which Ms. Ferreira said it expires in the year 2001. This extraordinary fifteen year contract is due to Rochester's late entry into the cable television market.

Information from the Community Antenna Television Commission was next under incoming correspondence, informing the board of a new Act of 1992 which has been in effect as of October 5, 1992.

Building Inspector Robert C. Francis next sent a letter to the board advising them that an extension added to the Town Highway Barn is in violation of Rochester Building Codes and work on it must be stopped until the proper permits are filed — including applications for variances from the Board of Appeals and the Conservation Commission. Chairman Brown agreed that even though the building is on town property, it still must meet all the necessary stipulations of town by-laws and building codes.

Two additional memos from Kopelman and Paige were also sent to Selectmen regarding municipal employment termination and municipal liability for negligence in public safety (copies of which were sent to Police Chief Denham and Fire Chief Clapp).

Notices for the week included:

• Invitation to a retirement party for Norfolk Town Administrator Marilyn Morris.

• Public Meetings for the DEP to be held on Massachusetts General Law 21E in January and February (January 28 in New Bedford).

The board next signed and approved the following:

• Proceeds from the Clarence Maxim Fund for Boy Scouts, Athletics and Red Cross, along with the annual accounting for each charitable trust for the board's approval.

• A transfer request from Wiring Inspector Robert McGee for $1,000 from the Reserve Fund to supplement his budget.

• A legal invoice for municipal services rendered from Kopelman and Paige for $121.92.

The board approved all three requests, with Selectman Hughes abstaining from one legal item in the matter of Dalton vs. Town of Rochester.

Under Old Business, the board discussed the pending Earth Removal Permit renewal request from Subon, Inc. Selectman Hughes said that the his fellow board members had asked to delay issuing the renewal until they had a chance to review the previously issued permits and site as marked.

Selectman Hawkes said she was going to abstain from voting on the request, because she didn't know that much about the site or the specifications of the previously issued permits.

"As far as I'm concerned, I'm ready to grant the renewal," Selectman Hughes said. "Both of the other permits were okay and they are in compliance." Chairman Brown agreed and the renewal request was granted with a majority vote of the board.

The board next considered the pending appointment to the Conservation Commission, which was delayed from last week to seek a response from the State Ethics Commission on potential conflicts of interest among members of the commission.

Upon a request from Chairman Brown, the State Ethics Commission advised the board in the letter "that Conservation Commission members be required to abstain from official participation in any matters in which their company or a competitor has a financial interest, unless they obtain a written determination from the Selectmen."

Chairman Brown said that under the present conditions (with a seven member board and a required majority vote of four members), he would like to see a new appointee to the commission who doesn't have a vested interest in a cranberry bog.

Selectman Hughes agreed. "I'd just like to see some different people on the commission with no cranberry interest. I'd say that out of about 90 percent of all Orders of Conditions served, there is at least one cranberry grower who is a voting member," he said.

"That's not true," Conservation Commission Chair Georgia Chamberlain said. "We've only dealt with three cranberry bogs in the last two years with one pending." Ms. Chamberlain also suggested that this filtering of potential Commission appointees was a subtle form of discrimination against cranberry growers.

"It's not discrimination," Selectman Hughes said. "I'd just like to see more of a variety on the commission."

When the matter became a cause for argument among those present, Selectman Hawkes asked that the board again table the appointment of a new member to the commission and ask that any other residents who might be interested in filling a vacancy on the Conservation Commission to contact the Board of Selectmen's office, care of Town Hall (763-3871). If no other interested parties come forward in the next two weeks, then the board will consider appointing one of the two associate members recommended by the Commission.

The last item under Old Business was to make a decision on dealing with non-criminal offenses (citations) issued by municipal inspectors (i.e. Wiring Inspector, Plumbing Inspector, Building Inspector). According to Chairman Brown, under a new state system if anyone is issued a citation which is not promptly paid, the Registry of Motor Vehicles can now withhold that person's license and/or registration until the outstanding bill is paid.

Resident Michael Bare questioned the wisdom of such a proposal in "giving authority over town affairs to the state." But Selectman Hughes stressed that without such a setup, the outstanding citations will remain unpaid and will cost the town a great deal of money to settle in court. "It's cheaper to have the state collect our debts for us," he said.

Selectman Hawkes moved that an article be placed on the next Annual Town Meeting warrant to suggest taking advantage of this system. Her motion was seconded and made unanimous.

Chairman Brown next read a draft letter from SEMASS for the board's approval. The letter commends the facility and endorses an award they will be receiving from the American Academy of Environmental Engineers for their recycling efforts.

There being no further business to discuss, the board moved to go into Executive

Selectman Brown to Retire from Public Service

Decides Not to Run for Re-Election

Immediately following the Board of Selectmen meeting on January 19, Selectmen Chairman Harry A. Brown Jr., who has served in some aspect of town government since 1951, released the following statement declaring his decision not to run for another term as Selectman in the upcoming town election:

"To my many friends and supporters who have been with me whenever I ran for public office in the past, I wish to express my sincere appreciation.

After considerable soul searching, I have decided not to run for re-election as Selectman. In a couple of weeks, I will be celebrating my 75th birthday. I have served the Town of Rochester in one capacity or another for the past 42 years. It is time to step down and enjoy my remaining years without the hassel of public office.

I wish to publicly thank those who have been so helpful to me over the years. We are fortunate to have many dedicated people willing to give for our town ... like Shirley Ferreira, Veronica Lafreniere, Kathy McHenry, Shirley DeLima, Jane Ellis, Naida Parker, Claudette Coutu, Police Chief Walter Denham, Highway Surveyor Jeff Eldridge, Fire Chief Joseph "Duffy" Clapp ... just to name a few.

A three-year term as Selectman is now open. There is no one town occupation or office that prepares one for the office of Selectman. A candidate must be willing to spend many hours reviewing the Massachusetts General Laws, and the yearly Acts and Resolves if one is to be able to carry out the duties of the office without ending up in litigation.

I am asking those who have or would support me to lend their support to Candidate for Selectman Michael Bare. Michael is married and resides on Braley Hill Road. I have spoken with him and questioned him and feel assured that he is the best candidate for Selectman.

Thank you for all your support.

George A. Dietzler will conduct and Phil Paleologos will narrate.

The program will open with a demonstration of all the percussion instruments that will be used in the concert. This will take place during the playing of "Outrageous Overture" by David Bobrowitz. This will be followed by "Ye Olde Timepiece," which depicts a ticking grandfather clock, and "I Heard It Through the Grapevine," better-known as the California Raisin Song, which is a favorite of youngsters.

Children attending the concert who wish to lead the band will be asked to register at the door. Ten lucky registrants will be selected to conduct the band in "Gruss An Ellrich" (Greetings to Ellrich, a town of the Hartz Mountains of East Germany). The young conductors will be given their batons to keep as souvenirs of their debut as leaders of the band.

A highlight of our first children's concert, "Spotlight and Soft Shoes," which utilizes whistles and sandpaper block, will be repeated.

The program will conclude with "Marche Differente," a funny little march with oddball trappings.

Admission is FREE to both adults and children. Concert-goers should park in lot 5. For more information, call 993-1892 or 758-4972.

Chicken Pot Pie Dinner

On Saturday evening, January 30, the "Old" North Rochester Congregational Church will sponsor a Chicken Pot Pie Dinner. This well-received dinner last year sold out quickly, and Chef Don Waite plans a few changes that will only improve his offerings.

For $5.50 per person, you will get Chicken Pot Pie, real mashed potatoes, a wide variety of jellied salads, cranberry sauce, rolls & butter, coffee (or milk) and for dessert, homemade pies (apple, lemon meringue, pumpkin, custard or chocolate cream).

The dinner will be served from 6:00 to 8:00 pm in the Grange Hall on Hartley Road in Rochester. It is another in a series of fundraisers to support the expansion of the little church on North Avenue.

Even though the Church is in a state of change and is in the process of being moved, services are still being held there every Sunday at 10:00 am. Everyone is welcome. There will be a different speaker each week.

Mattapoisett Council on Aging (COA)

Meeting Minutes — December 8, 1992

The COA meeting was brought to order at 10:00 am on December 8, 1992 by Evelyn Pursley.

The Secretary's Report was read and a motion was made to accept the report as read. The Treasurer's Report was read and a motion was made to accept the report as read and to place the report on file for audit.

Helen Richmond said we are in need of volunteers for the Outreach Program. It was agreed that another notice would go into the news publications.

Evelyn reported on the Annie Maxim House in Rochester. The CIRCA meeting went very well and Evelyn thanked all for their part and their attendance that day.

Evelyn attended the budget hearing meeting which we were made aware of at the CIRCA meeting. The monies that are being increased will not be for services but rather for administration. Evelyn Pursley will be meeting with the Selectmen this evening regarding the projected needs of Region I of which Mattapoisett is a part. The needs that will be addressed will be for the elderly population that according to projections will be higher than it is now. She is suggesting that a meeting for input and information gathering be set up with all the various civic, club and social groups along with the Selectmen and the Council on Aging.

The van will now go to Tobey Hospital on Wednesday mornings to take people to the x-ray departments and the laboratories. The appointments will be made by the doctors on a Wednesday morning at the patient's request and the van will take them there and bring them home. FISH will no longer take people to these two departments at Tobey.

We received a thank you note and a donation from two families in the memory of Jacob Banz. A donation of $50 was received. Evelyn will talk to Maria Connors regarding any item that the luncheon program at Village Court may need that could be purchased with this

St. Anthony's Church — Mattapoisett

A Word of Thanks

During the Christmas season we have seen a wonderful outpouring of generosity for those in need in our community. The members of St. Anthony's Conference of the St. Vincent de Paul Society wish to thank all who have assisted them in their work of caring for the needy: members of the Congregational Church who donate food year round, school children and personnel, the local banks and all who have assisted in any way.

We, in turn, are grateful to the men and women of the Conference for their dedication. The work is confidential but they can report that through the kindness of many they have been able to give groceries in abundance to about 20 families and shut-ins in the area, parishioners and non-parishioners alike, and Christmas presents of clothes, games, and toys to about 40 children and young people. On behalf of all: thank you and God bless you.

"We ran over 3000 feet of metal clad cable and only had 30 feet left over," said the proud Mr. Wilcox. Big Chili Contest

The Seventh Annual 92.7 FM WMVY Radio Big Chili Contest takes place on Saturday, January 30 at the Atlantic Connection in Oak Bluffs. The WMVY Big Chili Contest is a benefit for the Red Stocking Fund, a Martha's Vineyard non-profit organization that provides needy children with clothing and food at Christmas.

The contest is open to all professional and amateur cooks. The public votes for the best chili and prizes are awarded in both categories. WMVY also awards prizes for some very unusual categories such as "Is It Really Chili?"

Last year's contest had 40 contestants and two corporate entries whose chili was sampled by more than 1300 people. Over $5,000 was raised for the Red Stocking Fund, bringing the six year total to more than $25,000.

This year's contest promises to be better than ever. Starting with the 10:45 am Steamship Ferry to the FREE shuttle bus from Vineyard Haven to Oak Bluffs, be sure you join WMVY Radio (92.7 FM).

UMass Dartmouth

Mexican Textile Exhibit

An unusual, vibrant exhibit titled "Mexican Textiles: Line and Color" will be shown in the University Art Gallery from the opening reception on January 23 from 3:00 - 5:00 pm through March 6.

The stunning assemblage of 125 textile pieces reveals how Mexican weavers, mostly Indian women, have turned traditional work into artistic expression. Items on display include huipiles (blouse-like garments), sarapes and rebozos (shawls), quexquemitls (shoulder coverings), wraparound skirts, sashes, shoulder bags and torilla clothes.

The oldest pieces are sarapes from Satillo dating from the mid-19th century. Other pieces date from the mid-1940's to the present. The exhibit is organized by cultural anthropologist Jill Vexler, Ph.D., whose research has focused strongly on Latin American countries.

The gallery is located in the Visual and Performing Arts Building. Gallery hours are 1:00 - 5:00 pm, Monday- Saturday. For further information, call 999-8555.

will be displayed in the Atrium of the Visual and Performing Arts building, opening January 23 from 3:00 - 5:00 pm and running through March 6.

Thomas W. Puryear, UMass Dartmouth professor of Art History, has assembled over thirty designs from the Roycroft workshop, many by their leading designer, Dard Hunter. Puryear described the collection as "Title pages, cover designs, colophons and illuminated letters on handmade paper (which) constitute the pride of Roycroft workmanship. The books shown here are not particularly rare ... nevertheless, the care and artistic sensibility exhibited in these books was never exceeded by contemporary early modern designers."

The Roycrofters were a small band of craftspeople living at the turn of the century in upstate New York, near Buffalo, who believed in the worth of creating finely crafted everyday objects in the spirit of the Arts and Craft movement. Their founder and leader was Elbert Hubbard, a prolific writer and dynamic spokesman.

The Atrium is open Monday - Saturday during class hours, 8:00 am - 10:00 pm. Call 999-8555 for further information.

Theater for the Deaf Presents Ophelia

The National Theater of the Deaf will present "Ophelia" in the UMass Dartmouth Main Auditorium on January 30 at 8:00 pm. Tickets are $5, general public; $3, University personnel; and FREE to UMass Dartmouth students.

An ensemble for deaf and hearing actors using both sign language and the spoken word will shed new light on one of Shakespeare's most mysterious and compelling characters. Shadowed in "Hamlet" by the powerful men around her, this new production by Obie-winning playwright Jeff Wanshell frees her from confinement and convention, enabling her to explore a world beyond the narrow walls of Elsinore.

Last Girl Scout Cookie Sale Until 1994

Cookie lovers who are used to buying Girl Scout cookies from the Plymouth Bay Girl Scout Council twice each year will have some adjustments to make in 1993. Because of a mandate from the Girl Scout national organization, Girl Scouts of the United States of America, the Plymouth Bay Girl Scouts will hold only one cookie sale this year. Orders will be taken for that sale beginning February 12.

To avoid a bad case of "the cookie blues" next fall, Plymouth Bay is advising all of its customers to stock up on their favorite Girl Scout cookies now. In addition to having a long shelf life, Girl Scout cookies are also excellent for freezing. In fact, a favorite way to serve one of the Council's best-selling cookies, Thin Mints, is straight out of the freezer.

The advent of an annual cookie sale will also have important financial ramifications for the girls of the Plymouth Bay Council. To find out how you can support the girls in your neighborhood and stock up on Girl Scout cookies while they last, please call 1-800-242-0925.

Daniel Boone: The Life and Legend of an American Pioneer
• John Mack Faragher, Henry Holt, $27.50

It is not often that one man's life embodies so accurately the essence of the American spirit, a spirit that is, for the most part, contradictory. Daniel Boone was driven by wanderlust yet had a deep commitment to his family. He had a strong love for nature and simultaneous desire to tame it. Daniel Boone was a simple man who contained multitudes.

John Mack Faragher's Boone is a "civilizer" and wilderness philosopher. Indians are his friends as well as white men. He is an existential everyman, judicious, amazingly tolerant and honest, eking out his existence in the wilderness.

This faithful retelling of Boone's life is every bit as compelling as the myths and fiction he has helped create, like the Leatherstocking Tales by James Fenimore Cooper. Here is a biography of Boone that will not only set the record straight about his life, it will also give the American reader some insight into the national character.

Jesus: A Life
• A.N. Wilson, Norton, $22.95

One of the problems with doing a life of Jesus is the fact that your readers more or less expect you either to reinforce their belief or bolster their disbelief, since maintaining fixed attitudes about the subject requires a good bit of effort from a lot of us who consider the matter regularly.

So be warned: A.N. Wilson's opinions on many of the major and minor aspects of Jesus the historical personage are not going to please everyone. Wilson wisely does not attempt to do much more than alternately rage and marvel at his primary sources (the Gospels) so that by the end of the book the reader is at least in sympathy with the difficulties he encountered along the way in coming to his conclusions. That noted, it should be said that Wilson is in many ways ideally suited for an effort of this nature

Jesus represents the latest in a series of biographies that Wilson has done which almost seem autobiographical, given their subjects and themes. Where Jesus fits into this scheme is a conclusion that this reviewer will leave to the reader, who cannot fail to be intrigued and stimulated by Wilson's generous supply of insight.
